

Sofia Panaghis is currently teaching English Literature at IST—University of Hertfordshire in Athens and EFL to adults at the Language Center of the University of Athens. She also participates as an oral examiner, an observer and coordinator of the Writing Production for the State Foreign Language Exam known as KPG. Lately, she has been involved in writing a lengthy critical book entitled 'William Blake's Divine Wheels: The Metaphoricity of the Imagination in 'Jerusalem''.